Kindly treat this email as an application for information under ICANN's DIDP policy.

I request a copy of the Continuity and Contingency Plan (and any other relevant documentation) prepared by ICANN as required under clause C.7.3 of the IANA Functions Contract.

This document should be put in public domain in order to understand the need and implications of transferring the IANA functions away from ICANN. This is relevant in the context of the principle of separability being discussed by various operational communities in developing a proposal for the purpose of the IANA Stewardship Transition.

If there are any specific portions of the document that are deemed to be confidential (for any reason of non-disclosure), then only those portions should be specifically deleted and the remaining portions of the document should be put in the public domain in response to this DIDP application.

Regards,
Guru Acharya
